WASHINGTON, April 11.—At the Navy Department the impression obtains that Commodore Brown, U. S. N., now at Indianapolis, will soon be detailed to command the New York navy yard, relieving Commodore Erben, who will take charge of the new squadrons. The New York yard is regarded as the best of all naval assignments. Commodore Brown has long stood very high in the navy and at the department, and his services during the past four years have given him added prestige.

MORTON'S EXPLANATION.

He Removed Robert Blaine Because the Position He Held Was a Sinecure.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Secretary Morton's attention was today called to certain criticism for his removal of Robert Blaine from the position of chief of the quarantine division of the Bureau of Animal Industry. The Secretary said that when he took charge of the Department of Agriculture he found Mr. Blaine occupying a position with practically no duties to perform and drawing a salary of $2,000 per annum. It was one of the most evident sinecures in the department and he could not consistently allow it to remain, even though the incumbent happened to be the brother of the late James G. Blaine. If he had been the brother of President Cleveland, the result would have been the same. The only position which could be taken in the interest of economy and good government was to abolish the division, which consisted of one man, and assign the clerical work connected with the stations to the division of field investigation and miscellaneous work of the Bureau of Animal Industry. It had really been done during Mr. Blaine's incumbency. The quarantine stations, he said, would be maintained and conducted as they have been heretofore, under the direction of the chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, without the least detriment to the public service.

One of the President's Jokes.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—"Good morning, Mr. President," remarked one of the office seekers who was among the crowd of callers at the White House this morning. "I suppose you recall me, don't you?" "Yes, I recognize you," replied Mr. Cleveland, "but I cannot place you."

UNITED MINE WORKERS.

Secretary McBride Submits His Report to the Annual Convention.

COLUMBUS, O., April 11.—The United Mine Workers of America met this morning with all the officers present. After referring credentials to a committee President McBride appointed committees on rules, distribution, resolutions, constitution and grievances, the chairman of each, in the order named, being Mr. McQuade, of Pennsylvania; James White, of Pennsylvania; Mr. Penna, of Indiana; John Nugent, of Ohio, and Wm. Howell, of Colorado. After a recess Secretary McBride submitted his report. It sets forth that the mine workers are in better condition at present than they have been for years. In closing, the report says: "The greatest obstacles to progress were found in those places that most required our organization and where we were most solicitous that it should be established. The greatest obstacle was found in the coal fields of West Virginia, western Pennsylvania, Illinois and the black coal field of Indiana. It is noteworthy that the miners of Illinois, Indiana and western Pennsylvania suffered through the loss of strikes during the year 1891, and it would seem from their present attitude as if they had not sufficiently recovered from the effects of the strike. We are for the organization to assume its old-time proportions in those fields." The balance in the treasury is $10,338. A Pennsylvania local union sent word to the delegates to expel "all delegates under the influence of drink." Many questions were referred to appropriate committees.

Garment Cutters Will Arbitrate.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The great fight between the United Garment Workers and the Manufacturers' Association is approaching the beginning of the end. The struggle has lasted nearly three weeks, but tomorrow a committee from each of the opposing factions will meet with a view of arranging an amicable conclusion. This afternoon a delegation representing the American Federation of Labor and the garment workers called upon President Horthal, of the Manufacturers' Association. They were President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor; Chris Evans, secretary of the same organization; James B. Lennon, national treasurer of the Journeymen Tailors' Union, and Edward Freeman, a member of the State Board of Arbitration. What was done and said during the two hours' conference could not be learned in exactness. Samuel Gompers was the spokesman. It was agreed that a committee of ten, including five from each side, should meet and arbitrate the differences between the two organizations in dispute. President Gompers and his party left with the understanding that they would talk over the matter, and inform the manufacturers by letter of their conclusion. It was understood that tonight a letter was dispatched by President Gompers to President Horthal agreeing to the arbitration committee. The meeting will take place tomorrow evening, when, it is thought, the lockout will be lifted and the fight declared at an end.

Will Retain Nonunion Men.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 11.—Late tonight the electric street-car strike was declared off. This action was the result of a conference between the officials of the company and the arbitration committee of the Ohio Valley Trades Assembly, and the outcome is very satisfactory for the company. By the settlement the company agrees to employ only such of the strikers as they desire, and retain nonunion men who have stood by them.

The Fayerweather Will Contest.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Justice Lawrence, of the Supreme Court, has refused, in the contest over the millions of Daniel H. Fayerweather, to strike from the answers of Dartmouth, Williams, Amherst and Hamilton colleges the allegations that the residuary estate of Mr. Fayerweather was not a gift to his executors, but was a trust to be disposed of among the institutions named in the will, some of which the executors omitted in the deed of gift. The colleges named will maintain that they should have shared in the distribution under the deed as they did in the distribution under the will.

Welsh Mine Horror.

An Unknown Number of Miners Suffocated in a Pit Near Ponty-Pridd.

LONDON, April 11.—Fifty or more miners perished in a coal pit near Ponty-Pridd, Wales, this afternoon by an explosion of gas. The pit was worked in sections, one being above another. Three hundred men were at work in the colliery at the time of the explosion. The fire broke out in the eastern section. The first alarm was given at 3:30 this afternoon. The sparks from an engine in a four-foot seam are supposed to have ignited a pile of cotton waste. The flames spread to the wood work, and finally ignited the inflammable gas in the seam. Flashes and smoke gave the 200 men at work in the seam the first warning of approaching danger. All ran toward the landing. Many who were overtaken by the fire and smoke, fell, and were left to their fate by their comrades in advance of them. Comparatively few of the men who were in the seam at the time of the explosion reached the landing. From one section seventy men succeeded in reaching the surface, through the main pit working, led by a miner who knew the roads. They had a terrible struggle to get out, forcing their way through fire and smoke. Many of them were scorched, and all were terribly exhausted, when they emerged to safety.

At the entrance of the shaft a rescuing party was formed by the pit surveyor. The party got as far as the landing at the seam where the fire started, but was driven back almost immediately by the dense smoke issuing from the seam. The surveyor took his men back to the surface. After a half hour's rest they went down again and forced their way into the workings. They found four dead bodies, which they brought back with them. They went on to go further into the workings were in vain, as the wood work was burning and large masses of coal and rocks were falling incessantly from the roof. One of the rescue party who ventured too far was killed. The men who saved themselves immediately after the fire broke out were too much confused and frightened to observe the positions of their fellow-workmen. They were unable to give any clear account of the distribution of the miners, and the work of rescue had, therefore, to proceed under all the difficulties of uncertainty.

At 10 o'clock to-night there were scores of miners' families at the entrance of the pit, and also the miners who were saved and the men of the other shafts. There are numerous volunteers to undertake the rescue, but it is set soon after the explosion. At present the flames and smoke would render any such undertaking vain, if not fatal to the party making the descent. There is little doubt that the fire had reached the surface. Where the fire had been extinguished they were also unable to make any progress, as they could not breathe in the foul atmosphere. The number of men still in the mine cannot be ascertained, although it is known to be well above fifty.

Another attempt to enter the seam in which the fire started proved fruitless. Although the rescue party saw six dead bodies, they were prevented by smoke and heat from reaching them. The fire had been extinguished they were also unable to make any progress, as they could not breathe in the foul atmosphere. The number of men still in the mine cannot be ascertained, although it is known to be well above fifty.

Cardinal Vaszary's Assault.

The Primate's Would-Be Assassin a Cellar-Man Who Had Been Dismissed.

VIENNA, April 11.—It was learned today that the man who attempted to assassinate Cardinal Vaszary, primate of Hungary, yesterday, was named Cholies, that he had been employed by the Cardinal as a cellar-man, but had been dismissed. The attack was made in the palace at Pesth. Cholies asked to be reinstated, and when his Emphasis indicated he would have to look into the case Cholies became instantly enraged. He drew a carving knife that he had concealed about his person and made a desperate lunge at the Cardinal, who had been writing at his desk, but who had risen quicker, and he evaded the blow aimed at him by springing around the corner of the desk. The Rev. Dr. Medardus Kohl, the Cardinal's secretary, was sitting at the desk, and he sprang to his feet and rushed between the men just as Cholies started toward the Cardinal again. Dr. Kohl, intent upon saving the life of the Cardinal, grasped Cholies. In the struggle the knife struck him, inflicting five serious wounds on the shoulder and the arm. General Foreign News.

Gladstone Urged to Move Closure on the Second Reading of the Home-Rule Bill.

LONDON, April 11.—Many Liberal members of Parliament have signed a paper requesting Mr. Gladstone to move, on Friday, the closure of the debate on the second reading of the home-rule bill. The first speaker in the House of Commons, to-day, was Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett, Conservative, who earnestly opposed the bill. He was followed by Michael Davitt, M. P. for North Meath, who made a forcible speech in favor of the measure. Mr. Davitt said that the bill would be accepted by thirteen millions of the Irish as a pact of peace, and he was honorably observed. He had changed his opinion since 1886, and now strongly supported the retention of the Irish members in the Imperial Parliament. The bill was a compromise, and not the result of revolution; and, therefore, the friends of peace in Ireland and England took it as containing all the conditions of lasting union. The Irish, Mr. Davitt continued, did not wish home rule to cost the British Parliament a single penny, and they would shrink their share of imperial expenditures.

Honduran Revolutionists Defeated.

NEW ORLEANS, April 11.—Following is a copy of a letter received by General Rye, of the staff of General Vasquez, in command of the government troops of the Honduran army, from President Liva, now stationed at Puerto Cortez. This is the latest news of the revolution, and it is very interesting, and is absolutely authentic. The letter, written in Spanish, is dated "Puerto Cortez, Honduras, April 4," and is as follows:

My Dear Sir and Friend:—The forces of Bonilla which attacked the town of Tegucigalpa on the 28th of March were repulsed and defeated with great loss by the government troops. The remainder of the defeated revolutionists afterwards retreated and entrenched themselves in El Pinar above the Leona, which position, according to telegrams received by me to-day, they evacuated yesterday. The government forces attacked and defeated them, and it is probable that the same parties who objected to a mountain warfare for some days longer.

Spanish Islands Seized by Japan.

MADRID, April 11.—Much excitement has been caused here by a dispatch to the effect that Japan has seized the Pelew Islands, a group in the north Pacific claimed to belong to Spain, 450 miles east of the Philippine Islands at the western extremity of the Caroline archipelago. The islands are claimed by the Spaniards by right of discovery. The Governor of the Philippine Islands has sent a cable dispatch asking for reinforcements, whether with the object of attacking the Japanese or not is not stated. The Pelew Islands are situated between the inhabitants and are very fertile. Their situation between the Philippine Islands and the Caroline Islands, both Spanish colonies, has been regarded as a sign that Japan intends to encroach on Spanish possessions in the Pacific. The affair may lead to grave difficulties between the two powers.

Italy Fears a Foreign Pope.

LONDON, April 11.—A dispatch received here from Rome, emanating from a high authority, states that the Italian government intends upon the occasion of the holding of the next papal conclave to issue a brochure entitled "Il Papa Deve Essere Italiano," declaring that the next Pope ought to overthrow the democratic policy which has been followed by the late Pope, and to be reconciled with the quinal. The dispatch adds that in official circles it is greatly feared that Pope Leo's successor will be a foreigner. The dispatch further declares the election of Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore. The officials at the Vatican laugh at the idea of the proposed brochure having any effect.

Procession in Honor of Bismarck.

HAMBURG, April 11.—This evening four thousand National Liberals from Hamburg marched in a torchlight procession before Prince Bismarck's castle in Friedrichsberg. The demonstration was to have been made on Friday evening before Prince Bismarck's birthday, but was forbidden by the police, who regarded it as a demonstration of the kind that might celebrate the birthday of the Princesse Bismarck. After the procession was refused, the party gathered before the gates, and Prince Bismarck thanked them for himself and his wife.

Earthquake Have in Asia Minor.

VIENNA, April 11.—Servia suffered most from yesterday's earthquakes, but the loss of life appears small. Two villages in the province of Svaljane were destroyed. The chief judge was killed at Jagodina by his house collapsing. It is believed that these earthquakes are too much connected with the cent earthquakes in Asia Minor, which was meagerly reported, whereby the town of Malatya, with three thousand houses, was destroyed and 130 persons perished.

A French Comte Endeavoring to Raise $3,000,000 in the United States.

NEW YORK, April 11.—Count De Keratry, of France, is in the city. He came to this country, he said to-day, as the representative of French capitalists who were attempting to organize a new Panama Canal Company. He would try to raise $3,000,000 for the enterprise in this country. "Our desire," he said, "is to form a company with twelve directors, seven of whom shall be French, two from Bogota, in Colombia, and three from this country."

"Two hundred million francs."

"Who are the Frenchmen who are interested in it?"

"I am not at liberty to say."

"Whom will you interview on this side of the Atlantic?"

"I cannot tell you that, either."

The Count said that it was the intention to complete the organization in two months if possible. He has been in this country on two occasions in the interest of the Franco-American Company.

DEATH RATHER THAN JAIL.

"Pickles" McCallister, of Anderson, Blows Out His Brains When Arrested.

Had Stolen Nearly $1,000 from the Express Company and Lost it at Cards—Chesapeake-Lafayette Conspiracy Trial.

Another Anderson Tragedy.

James McCallister Fires a Bullet in His Head on Being Arraigned for Theft.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

ANDERSON, Ind., April 11.—The second tragedy this week, for Anderson, occurred here, this afternoon, when James T. McCallister, a well-known young man of twenty years, committed suicide. He was familiarly known as "Pickles," and had been in the employ of the American Express Company for several months.

On Jan. 10, a money package of $500 which he received for to the agent of the Big Four came up missing. The package was valued at $1,000. Other small amounts were also reported missing from time to time. Yesterday John T. Clark, superintendent of this division of the express company, arrived in the city, followed soon after by William Hartshorn, special agent, and J. C. Crain, a detective, who had been shadowing McCallister for some time.

Superintendent Clark, young McCallister and Special Agent Hartshorn were closeted in a room at the Griffith House, to-day, from 10 o'clock to 1 o'clock this afternoon. When they emerged from the office an officer in waiting approached McCallister and began reading a warrant for arrest. Without a word the young man drew a revolver and, placing it against his forehead, sent a bullet through his brain.

He fell senseless to the sidewalk and was taken unconscious to the Municipal undertaking establishment, where he died a few minutes after 6 o'clock. The officials declared he signed a written confession before leaving the room. Superintendent Clark and his assistants left the city on the first train after the tragedy. It was feared to-night that the crime was done by one of the young men, but the fact that he had been playing was not generally known.

Shawalter Takes a Rest.

The First Game in the Kokomo Chess Match Will Be Played To-Day.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

KOKOMO, Ind., April 11.—The great chess match between Emanuel Lasker and Jackson W. Shawalter, champions, respectively, of Europe and America, was begun to-day, although no game was played. Rules give each player on demand three days rest, and Shawalter claimed to-day as one of his winter days. The interest in this match is intense, and promises to grow fast as the match progresses. The playing will begin to-morrow at 8 P. M., in the Columbian Hotel, where the contestants are quartered, and which is filling up with chess enthusiasts from over the United States, prominent among whom are the following State champions: F. W. Wittenborg, of Cleveland, O.; J. S. Starnes, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and J. C. Starnes, of Indiana. Betting is quite the odds being even so far.

Lasker, who is but twenty-three years old, is the hero of the chess world. He has been playing chess for eight years. He has the distinction of having won in three successive contests for the American championship with the loss of but a single game. He is a native of Russia, and since the palm days of Morphy, and places him in the front rank of the chess players of the world. Lasker has been in America since October 1, 1892, and has since met Shawalter in the Indiana chess tourney at Logansport for six games, quitting with honors even, each winning four draws. Since then arrangements were made for a regular championship match, the men being brought to Kokomo through the efforts of C. O. Jackson, of the local chess club. Lasker is a native of Berlin and a graduate of Berlin and Heidelberg universities. Since coming to America he has delivered lectures on mathematics in several colleges, his last place being New Orleans. After the match here he will probably deliver a series of lectures at the State University at Bloomington. He has been playing chess since he was ten years old and won the championship of Germany at nineteen.

Hard Struggle for a Jury.

Trial of Peter J. Clark, the Second of the Opera House Riot Cases.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 11.—When the Circuit Court closed to-night no jury had been agreed on to try Peter J. Clark, one of the opera house rioters. The special venire of 135 persons is being heavily drawn on, eighty-eight being used up thus far. Nearly every man has an opinion already formed, or forms one soon after getting into the box. It now looks as if there would be a greater public trial than was experienced in the case of Murphy, who was convicted last week.

Looks Black for Burr Hawes.

Ledgerwood and Harbin's Clean Breast of the Plot to Burn the Courthouse.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, Ind., April 11.—From noon yesterday afternoon until about early to-day Basil Ledgerwood, one of the convicted conspirators, was on the stand at the trial of Burr Hawes at Petersburg, and his story of the crime was given in all its details. Samuel Harbin, another of the convicted men, was then called, and he corroborated the story of Ledgerwood. The freedom with which Harbin testified was remarkable. He had absolutely refused to talk during the trial of Lavelle, a year ago, but to-day he made a clean breast of the whole matter. It is now intended by the defense to bring five more of the conspirators to the stand to impeach Ledgerwood and Harbin. The proposal is regarded here as simply ridiculous, owing to the fact that it would be easy matter to get a hundred of Davies county's best citizens to testify to Ledgerwood's truthfulness and good character. His arrest and conviction was the consummation of the crime for which he is now being punished. It is expected that the trial will consume all of this week and the greater part of next.

Dr. Parry to Return to Terre Haute.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 11.—The Rev. Dr. Thomas Parry, of Michigan City, who preached for the Methodist-street Presbyterian Church here yesterday, has received a call from that congregation to become its pastor. It is thought he will accept. Dr. Parry left here ten years ago, resigning the pastorate of the Central Presbyterian Church to go to the Jefferson Park Church in Chicago. From there he went to Michigan City. He was well liked when here, and will be welcomed back to the city. With the Rev. W. V. Hunter, formerly of Indianapolis, building up the congregation of the Central Presbyterian Church, and Dr. Parry in the new Methodist-street Church, the Presbyterian denomination will assume a prominence in Terre Haute it never had before. The Methodist-street Church is near College College, the Presbyterian Church is near the college. One reason for the belief that Dr. Parry will come here is the fact that he has several daughters whose education could be completed at the college.

They Played with Dynamite.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

BEDFORD, Ind., April 11.—Yesterday, while the children of R. N. Taylor and his brother, Charles Taylor, were playing near their house, they became possessors of a dynamite cartridge, which evidently had been lost by one of the stone quarrymen. The boys thought it was great fun, and, procuring a hatchet, they gave the dynamite machine a whack, causing an immediate explosion. One of the children was seriously injured about the face, his right eye being almost torn out. The other child was also hurt, but not dangerously. The report of the explosion was heard at a considerable distance, and caused much excitement for a time.

The Council finally, by a strict party vote, decided to increase the license to $100.
